Program Summary:

This workshop will provide a brief overview of the principles of successful treatment of individuals with co-occurring mental health and substance use disorders.

Target Audience:

Individuals, family members and adolescents interested in learning more about co-occurring mental health and substance use disorders.

Objectives:

At the end of the program, the attendee will be able to:

1. Identify seven principles of successful treatment intervention.
2. Understand the basic concepts of welcoming, empathy, hope, integration, continuity and empathic detachment in engaging dually diagnosed adults/adolescents and their families.
3. Recognize the four quadrants, and their application to clinical care and system design.

Kenneth Minkoff, M.D.

Kenneth Minkoff, M.D. is a board-certified psychiatrist with a certificate of additional qualifications in addiction psychiatry; a dedicated community psychiatrist, and a clinical assistant professor of psychiatry at Harvard Medical School. He is recognized as one of the nation's leading experts on integrated treatment of individuals with co-occurring psychiatric and substance disorders, and on the development of integrated systems of care for such individuals through the implementation of a national consensus best practice model for systems design: the Comprehensive Continuous Integrated System of Care, referenced in SAMHS's Report to Congress on Co-Occurring Disorders.

Dr. Minkoff is a member of the Committee on Psychiatry and the Community for the Group for Advancement of Psychiatry (1982 - present), and chaired the committee for the report entitled: A Resident's Guide to the Treatment of People with Chronic Mental Illness (1993). He is also a fellow of the American Psychiatric Association and a member of the American Academy of Addiction Psychiatrists.

Don't miss this opportunity to hear one of the nation's leading experts talk about co-occurring psychiatric and substance use disorders!

Certificates of attendance will be awarded at the end of the session.

Please let us know if you are in need of any special accommodations such as mobility assistance, interpreters, etc. at the time of registration. We will make every attempt to honor your special needs request.
