Meet Kevin

Kevin Thompson joined the United States Marine Corps in 2002 at age 19. After graduating boot camp he was stationed in Okinawa, Japan. He participated in training exercises with the Special Operations Training Group preparing Marines for urban combat assaults. He was later deployed to train with Marines throughout the world, such as the Royal British Marines, Philippine Marines, Thailand Marines, and Republic of Korea Marines.

Kevin was later deployed to Al-Anbar Province in Iraq as a motor transport operator. Serving in this position, Kevin became injured due to an unexploded VBIED. Despite this injury, Kevin was able to continue with his unit's mission, but learned years later he had fractured his C5 and L4 vertebrae while in country on deployment, causing 10 years of ongoing pain. Kevin sought help through the Department of Veteran's Affairs, but was constantly informed these physical pains were the manifestations of PTSD. In 2016, Kevin found a surgeon at Michigan State University who operated on him and reduced his physical pain almost entirely.

After receiving an honorable discharge in 2009, Kevin earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Criminal Justice from Ferris State University. In 2016, Kevin graduated with a Master's of Social Work degree from Michigan State University. During Kevin's clinical internships, he worked with the Michigan State University's Veterinarian Medical Center with a focus on grief and loss therapy for people who have lost their pets. In his clinical year of graduate school, he interned with the Department of Veteran's Affairs with a focus on local substance abuse and veteran homelessness through the Lansing Community Based Outpatient Clinic (CBOC).

Kevin comes to MSHN through a cooperative arrangement with The Right Door for Hope, Recovery, and Wellness.
