We welcome you to call or walk-in for professional, compassionate and confidential help with questions, referrals for community resources, and routine screenings for adults with mental illness, children with serious emotional disturbance, individuals with developmental disabilities, and individuals with substance abuse treatment needs.

When you call, one of our friendly access staff will ask you questions that will help determine if you are eligible for services. They will ask you where you live and to describe what is happening in your life that makes you feel you need services. You will also be asked about your insurance and your income.

If the situation you describe is an emergency, you will be directed to immediate help.
